

An illustration showing a hand holding a brush with a red handle and a grey ferrule, dipping it into a white bowl containing a light brown liquid. A small green plant specimen is positioned next to the bowl. The background is a warm, textured beige. In the lower half, a white sheet of paper is laid out on a surface, showing several pressed plant specimens. On the left, there are three bright orange lily-like flowers on a stem. In the center, there is a stem with several green, palmately lobed leaves. On the right, there is a smaller stem with more finely divided, fern-like leaves. Small orange rectangular tabs are visible on the stems of the lily and the central stem. A larger orange rectangular object is also visible on the beige surface to the right of the white paper.

"Elke zorgvuldig bewaarde plant in het herbarium ademt vakmanschap uit. Planten zo lang goed bewaren, kan alleen als je gebruik maakt van de juiste technieken en vakkennis."

Flore Deman, Herbarium, 2021